

Resources for Parents

http://www.education.com/reference/topic/ParentSchoolConnection\_HomeworkHelp/

This site has advice, education tips, project ideas and much more.

<http://www.freemathhelp.com/>

This site allows you to create worksheets that you can print out to give your child some extra help.

<http://school.familyeducation.com/homework/parenting/38543.html>

This site has homework tips, quizzes, printable worksheets, and lots of advice for parents of children of all ages.

<http://school.discoveryeducation.com/parents/>

This site has study tools, links to online resources, and tips from teachers that range from surviving your child's next science project to handling teacher conferences.

<http://www.ed.gov/parents/landing.jhtml?src=ln>

This site is from the U.S Department of Education and provides booklets to download that will help you prepare your child for school and help keep them on track during the school year.

<http://www.internet4classrooms.com/parents.htm>

This site contains a wide range of information. It includes everything from homework help to internet safety to summer activities.

